“ I will be forever thankful to have known Grandad. He was more than willing to give me block for my addition. Of coarse it had been at least once used but still had use left. I had the pleasure of hearing stories from a man that had lived live without a stone left unturned. While I would chip the concrete from the previous use and load the block, I would be given the best advise Carl had to offer. From then on I looked forward to hearing Grandad's world views and rants whenever possible. I hope one day I can say I lived life on my terms as Grandad has. You Sir will be missed and remembered.
