“ Helen Young was a one-of-a kind saint. Can't even imagine how many babies she helped welcome into this world, tended to, and helped new mommies become acclimated to their responsibilities. From a personal perspective, I first met Helen (up close and personal) when our first child was born in 1968. I so wanted to nurse my first-born and Helen did her best to help this dream become a reality. I didn't realize that nursing was a "dying art" at that point in time. With knowledge and encouragement, she helped me try and persevere. And then, 6 years later, our second son was born (1974) and Helen was still there at Witham Hospital. So comforting to see a familiar face...someone wise in experience and still bustling about with all that knowledge, experience, and the love for her chosen field of work. Our paths crossed throughout the following years (primarily when visiting a friend with a new baby) and then time marched on. Can honestly say that when I would reflect on the birth of my babies these past 47 years, aside from family, friends, and Dr. Weddle...I would always conjure up memories which explicitly included Helen Young. She left an impression and it was positive. Somehow, it's just not right that babies are being born and swaddled, patients are being tended to, and Helen Young is no longer on duty. May God rest her soul and reward her for the love and care she provided throughout her lifetime.

“ Dear Sam, Judy, and family::

Due to scheduled travel, I will be unable to show my respect to your Mother in person. It is with warm thoughts, I do want to convey and share my sympathy in your loss. My relationship with the Pickering family provided the opportunity for a close association with Helen, and she never failed to recognize and remember all those younger days. Helen was always one to express a sincere interest in the growth of my family. She was a great lady, and I am grateful for having shared a life with her.

Sincerely,

Ted K. Darnell
