“ I've come here several times over the months, written something then deleted. You kind of get word block when you're trying to come up with the right words. I've come to the realization that the words placed don't matter. Its what they mean. Its been close to 3 months and I still go for my phone when we are done with a race or I'm working on something good or bad. I find a massive hole where you once were placed. An uncle and best friend that I could say whatever whenever. 5-7 days a week for 12 years of talking adds up to alot of stories under our belts. Say hi to my Mom, and give her hell for me. I'm sure she'd appreciate it. Until next time, you rest easy. I'll talk to you when it's my time to meet up. By the way, I hope you like the picture. I believe it explained us well.

“ So sorry for your loss. Papa Jack definitely had an impact on many peoples lives. I loved to tease and make fun of his Chargers. I remember one time we went fishing, and he caught the big one that day (see picture) I remember that once he moved back south he shared videos of getting his truck running. He will definitely be missed. I will never forget all the laughs that we had and memories that we made. I’ll miss you old man.

“ I will NEVER stop loving you Babe. I will miss you comforting me during storms and scary movies. I will miss how sometimes only you can calm me down during stressful times. The way you make me laugh with your funny wit and how you protect me like no other. Rest In Peace my love. Be free of pain and visit me in my deans and be ready to carry me
Across the threshold of the big pearly gates. My forever love.
