“ i will never forget the time you delivered the baby calf out on the farm. he lived, and you were proud as punch. you had previous experience though because you delivered my brother, jerry and me also, years earlier. thanks dad. it would be hard to forget you bringing up gunny sacks of ice from the pond in the winter time, pouring it into that great big ice cream maker, and cranking, and cranking while we all stood out there in the freezing cold watching you. i can remember to this day how good it tasted. thanks for all the good memories dad. love you and miss you, janie
