“ To the husband of Lisa Richards and as a close friend of my brother, Jack Kitchen I am wanting to let you know that my sorrow for the passing of your wife is very real. Jack shared to me many times over the years. How important your friendship and your wife’s friendship was to him, and I think both of you for all that you have provided Jack, my brother in friendship and in love. I am so sorry about the passing of Lisa but I will tell you that she must have been a very very special person from what I’ve heard about her. God bless.

“ Out of a lot of fond memories about Lisa, one I remember stands out. Before Lisa and James became a couple, several of us used to gather at James house in Columbus for gaming and just getting together. Being an early riser and one of the few coffee drinkers I usually went in search of some (pre-Starbucks). Lisa went with me a couple of times and just having some time to talk alone, casually, before festivities...Well let's just say she made an impression that has lasted 40 years.
