

Raymond O. Fatig III

August 15, 1954 - March 24, 2025

Raymond “Ray” Orlo Fatig, III, 70, of Zionsville, Indiana, died in Lebanon, Indiana due to multiple health issues on March 24, 2025.

He was born in El Paso, Texas on August 15, 1954, to Raymond “Ray” Orlo Fatig, Jr. and Beverly “Bev” Grace (Springer) Fatig, and spent the majority of his youth in central Ohio. Ray graduated from Olentangy High School in Lewis Center, Ohio, before earning a BS in Microbiology at The Ohio State University in 1976, going to work as a research scientist at Dow Chemical in 1981 in Midland, Michigan. He transferred to help establish the new Eli Lilly merger corporation, Dow Elanco, in Indianapolis, Indiana in 1992 where Ray and family settled in Zionsville, Indiana. Ray later went on to work in the agronomy and pharmacy departments at Purdue University (2003-2014) and the start-up, AsedaSciences, in the Purdue Research Park (2014-2024) having retired this past December.

Ray is survived by his loving wife of 42 years, Jody Ann (Reppart) Fatig, his twin sisters Beverly Michele Koenig (Tim) and Patrice Rachelle Fatig, his son Brent Christopher (Brittan), and grandsons Garrett Edward, Holden Joseph and Warner Davis.

Ray was preceded in death by his sister Megan Lynn Fatig, his stepson Mark Benjamin Taylor and his parents.

Ray was an avid reader (a fan of many genres, but particularly science fiction), artist, animal lover, lifelong learner, gardener, dreamer and amateur theologian. He also enjoyed entertaining his family with silly puns, inside jokes and constant self-deprecation. In more serious times, he played piano, was a champion Judo pupil, apiarist (a beekeeper), a caddie, a paperboy and either attended or served on the staffs for church summer camps. In high school he wrestled, played trumpet and sousaphone in the marching band. He was a decorated Boy Scout having received the God and Country award. Some of his final words focused on the beauty of God's creation and his sorrow at the lack of time to enjoy it. He had a strong belief in God's unconditional love for all of humanity and was a vocal advocate for equal rights and social justice.

Special thanks to the faith communities of Karl Road Christian (Columbus, Ohio), United Church of Christ (Midland, Michigan) and Central Christian Church (Lebanon, Indiana).

A memorial service will be held at Central Christian Church, 311 E Main St, Lebanon, Indiana 46052 on Saturday, March 29, 2025, with visitation 1:00 – 3:00 p.m. followed by a memorial service at 3:00 p.m. presided over by Rev. Nathan Kibler. Myers Mortuary and Boone County Crematory have been entrusted with his cremation arrangements.

In lieu of flowers, donations to Central Christian Church (<https://pushpay.com/g/ccclebanon?fnd=stFGdtLwB8GoHZCQ-1IA5Q&lang=en&src=pcgl>), the "If Not Now, When?" campaign benefitting Christian Church in Ohio (<https://www.ccinoh.com/donation.aspx>) or The Humane Society of Boone County (<https://www.hsforbc.org/donate.html>) would be greatly appreciated.

“ Ray was my colleague and friend at Purdue and at Asedasciences. We had planned to meet for a goodbye lunch in January but it didn't happen. My valued, warm hearted friend, you are missed. Rest in peace.

“ I had the privilege of working with Ray at Purdue University and staying in touch as our careers took us in new directions. Some of my fondest memories are of sharing coffee, discussing science, and hunting for mushrooms with him. His kindness and gentle nature touched everyone around him. Ray was not only a friend but also a mentor, and his presence will be deeply missed.

“ We were very lucky, appreciative and proud to have Ray with us on the journey with AsedaSciences. He was the best at what he did - nobody better, and we were very lucky to share the last decade with him as a critical member of the team. We would joke that Ray thinks like a cell - like a cell whisperer. He was that good, and if there was a Professor of Cell Culture, then it was Ray. Always positive, always jovial, always kind and he would always greet me with that booming voice across the lab when I visited. We are all grateful for his contribution, grateful for being able to know him and would not be where we are without him. RIP Ray - we will miss you.

“ I worked with Ray at AsedaSciences. I always enjoyed his quick wit, and our mutual blurting out “squirrel” in the middle of a conversation. The depth of his knowledge of cell culture was enormous, and we depended on it! He is missed!

“ Ray was what I called, “a gentle giant” - my daughter remembers him as “God’s voice” in one of the church musicals. He and I conversed every Sunday, talking about the meads he made and what I was brewing in my winery. He was one of the nicest men I have ever met. I remember the story about how he met Jody. He dearly loved his family. He will be missed.
